The Moon Will Pass Through the Earth's Shadow Tomorrow Night.

eclipse and is one of the most interesting and attractive of all heavenly phenomena. This is from the standpoint of the ordinary observer who watches it through an opera glass or with the undraped eye, simply from curiosity and a desire to see all that is going on. To the astronomer, with his high-power telescope and the knowledge of the results accomplished by all preceding astronomers, a lunar eclipse is not of so much interest, for he knows that about all that can be done with it has been done long ago. As explained by THE STAR'S astronomical reporter last Saturday the time has gone by when it was necessary to bring forward as proof of the rotundity of the earth the fact that no matter what the position of the earth is the shadow that passes over the moon is a round one. Now, the most that is done with it is to note the occultations of the stars with the moon in order to determine with stars with the moon in order to determine with more exactness the semi-diameter of the moon. THE ECLIPSE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Such a lunar eclipse will occur tomorrow evening and will be visible in this city from 6:37 until 8:01 o'clock, standard time. The moon will be full and rising in the east at the time that the sun is setting in the west and will pass through the great conical shadow that the earth casts out for an incredible distance into the inconceivable unknown that we call space. How this takes place may be readily understood by a reference to the above diagram. In this S How this takes place may be readily understood by a reference to the above diagram. In this S represents the sun, E the carth, M the moon, P the penumbra or partial shadow and the more darkly shaded space the shadow proper. The earth being larger; than the moon, its shadow extends beyond it, and where it reaches the moon is so much larger that the moon may be wholly enveloped in it. Before it gets into the total shadow, however, it comes in contact with the outer shadow or penumbra. Some of the sunlight is then cut off from the moon and it shines less brightly, but this diminution of light is not noticeable to the eye until the moon almost reaches the dark shadow. As it enters

AMUSEMENTS.

Albaugh's will be quite a theatrical event.
As an artiste she has reached the topmost round of the ladder, as a woman she is most charming. Men find no trace of masculinity in her and her own sex admire her greatly. Her repertoire includes several plays in which she has never before appeared in Washington, and it is needless to say they are perfect proshe has never before appeared in Washington, and it is needless to say they are perfect productions. In fact there is no living actress who gives such close attention to detail and historical accuracy as Modjeska. Her costumes are all taken either from celebrated paintings or are especially designed from data obtained from the best authorities upon the subject. In all of her work she is most conscientious, and she is one of the few women upon the stage who neglect nothing; even the properties she uses are, as a rule, veritable antiques and have been obtained by her at large expense. Her own personal costumes are marvels of the dressmaker's art. The company which supports her maker's art. The company which supports her is said to contain none but players of ability and reputation.

HARRIS' BIJOU THEATER.—The popular young actor, N. S. Wood, will be at Harris' Bijou Theater next week, opening an engagement of six nights and three matinees Monday night. The play will be his latest success, "The Orphans of New York." It is strong in plot, telling of the fortunes of a New York bootblack in a manner that is full of incident. The leading character is Percy Alwood and is as telling of the fortunes of a New York bootblack in a manner that is full of incident. The leading character is Percy Aixcood, and is assumed by Mr. Wood in a manner that has won him many compliments. The scenery is on a more elaborate scale than anything that Mr. Wood has yet presented in that line. The draw-bridge scene, in which the workings of a swinging bridge are reproduced in completeness, is perhaps the greatest scenic feature of the performce. The burning of the New York Orphan Asylum is also a vivid and exciting stage pic-ture, whose interest is intensified by the rescue from the burning tower. The sunset view of the Battery Park is described as a genuine work drama has engaged the brightest of American playwrights for decades. The history of the American stage scarcely furnishes another example of a production which has received such unanimous commendation from the press of the country in regard to every detail as Augustus Thomas' great American play "Alabama," which Mr. A. M. Palmer's company will present at the Academy on Monday night.

NATIONAL.—Arrangements have been finally concluded for the engagement of Arthur and Rosenquests great production of "Blue Jeans," and the ponderous scenery, stage effects, saw mill, engines, &c., will all be in place by Monday noon, when a trial will be had to see that everything is in working order for the night's performance. The advance sale has already performance. The advance sale has already assumed large proportions.

SUNDAY LECTURES.—Dr. S. M. Landis will tomorrow night deliver the first of a series of lectures at Kernan's Lyceum Theater. He will be remembered as the Philadelphia tragedian who appeared here several years ago as Hamlet, Richard III and Dick Shaw, and asked for a comparison between Shakespeare and himself, claiming for his own play, "Dick Shaw, the Fiend; or, the Rev. Preacher-Doctor," a temperance story, superiority in action, constructivenes and moral. Dr. Landis is a doctor, lawyer and preacher and has written many structivenes and moral. Dr. Landis is a doctor, lawyer and preacher and has written many medical, scientific and dramatic works, and lectured before various scientific bodies. Among his subjects will be: "Why Many Men Don't Marry," "How to Straighten Crooked Heads" and "A Word to the Front Rows—What Makes Men Baldheaded." Dr. Landis will be assisted by Miss Lillian Landis, the soprano, and Prof. Te Nevo, the tragic burlesquer. Miss Landis, whose voice is highly cultivated, was formerly a member of the McCaull Opera Company.

formerly a member of the McCaull Opera Company.

KERNAN'S LYCKUM THEATER.—Whallen & Martell's mammoth combination, which will be the attraction at Kernan's Lyceum Theater next week, is composed of clever and well-known variety performers, whose specialties are pronounced original and refreshing. Many of these artists, who represent the best talent on the variety stage, were engaged in Europe at high salaries and will make their first appearance in Washington. The Martells, Harry, William, Henry, Lewis, Lena and La Petite Lottie, have an established reputation as acrobats, and their feats on bicycles and unicycles are instructive and astonishing. Billy Golden, who will appear in a happy sketch with Miss May Golden, is a Washington boy, who has made a reputation in his realistic impersonations of the typical darky girl. Among the sensations is Cradoc, the king of axmen, who luggles huge, keen-edged Roman battle axes with surprising dexterity. Included in the bill are Byron and Blanch, Tom McIntosh, Little Bonnie Thornton, McBride and Goodrich, Baseo and Roberts and the Earls.

LITZ IN ITALT.—Miss Anna Seaton Schmidt will give a course of illustrated lectures on "Life in Italy, Her People and Her Art," at the Universalist Church, the first being on next Thursday evening, when modern Rome will be treated of. The subsequent subjects will be: "Ancient Rome," November 23; "Stanze of Raphael in the Vatican," November 30; "Genoa, Pias, Succa, Naples, Pompaii, Sorrento, Amalif and Capri," December 3; "Florence, Orvieto, Siena, San Giminiano and Verona," December 7, and "Perugia, Assisi, the Perdone and Venice," December 3; "Florence, Orvieto, Siena, San Giminiano and Verona, "December 7, and "Perugia, Assisi, the Perdone and Venice," December 3; "Genoa, Pias, Succa, Naples, Pompaii, Sorrento, Amalif and Capri," December 3; "Florence, Orvieto, Siena, San Giminiano and Verona, "December 7, and "Perugia, Assisi, the Perdone and the programs will be under the purpose of raising funds for destitute ex-confederate evertans res pany. > TO COMPUTE THE MOON'S SEMI-DIAMETER. For the most part, the attention of astronomers tomorrow night will be devoted to securing data with which to more closely compute the moon's semi-diameter. It is done by observing the length of time that it takes various stars to pass behind the moon. When the moon is darkened many stars in that part of the heaven that are usually invisible when the moon is shining on account of the superior light of that body come out clearly and may be observed as they pass behind the moon.
> The exact point of each star's occultation is computed some time before an eclipse. The time that clapses between the moment a star disappears on one side of the moon and comes out on the other is carefully noted, and it becomes a mathematical possibility to figure out the size of the moon.

Several days ago a colored woman name Mary Jenkins complained that she had been robbed of a silver watch, but the timepiec was not recovered by the police. Thursday night Mary stopped in front of Rachael Levy's second-hand store on 7th street and in the winsecond-hand store on 7th street and in the window she saw the missing watch. Mrs. Levy was questioned by Mary, but the latter was not entirely satisfied with the result of the interview and so she complained to the police of her

The decorations will be something unusually pleasing and unique. Large oil paintings, designed and painted expressiy for Mr. McDermott by Mr. Spinner, one of the best known Washington artists, will prove handsome and novel. The subjects of the productions are taken from nature and are entirely local, the foundations for all except one being photographs taken in the suburbs of the city by Mr. Spinner and Mr. McDermott themselves.

Of the number of lives lost 194 were passengers and 144 were officers or persons employed on the steamers. The loss of the steamer Sea Wing on Lake Pepin (Mississippi river), July 13, destroyed by a cycione, more than accounts for the increased fatality of the year, the number of lives lost on that steamer being 98 out of a total of 215 persons on board.

Gen. Dunnont refers to the fact that during the year but six accidents to marine boilers occurred, involving a loss of fourteen lives.

It is very much to be desired that Congress at its coming session will take action to repeal the foreign inspection laws so far as the appointment of separate officers is concerned.

Another measure urged upon the attention of Congress is the passage of a law to provide a punishment for persons forging or interlining certificates of license as masters, mates, pilots and engineers of steam vessels or for making false caths in their applications for such licenses.

HEAVY PENALTIES.

Yesterday Willie, alias Jap Dabney, Felix Hunter and Sonny Hill were convicted of assault and battery with intent to kill John W. Moton on September 27. The latter was cut in an alley between V. W. 10th and 11th streets northwest. The wound was in the abdomen and so serious that Moten was not expected to live for a few days. It was claimed that after Moten and Dabney had quarreled about a girl and parted Hill gave Dabney the knife; that Moten subsequently attacked Dabney, striking and kicking him, and that then Dabney drew the knife and the cut was inflicted. After the arguments had consumed two hours Justice arguments had consumed two hours Justice Bradley submitted the case to the jury. On the suggestion made by the counsel that a man expecting an attack had a right to arm himself, the court said it was not the law and was a dangerous doctrine. A man is not justified in using a deadly weapon against fist or stick. Justice Bradley read some authorities on this point. It was, he said, the duty of man to avoid a conflict. Dabney had no right to take the knife, and if Hill and Hunter know what Dabney intended they were equally guilty.

and if Hill and Hunter know what Dabney intended they were equally guilty.

Whea this jury retired the case of Harry Jones, harged with an assault with intent to kill John Ridgely on October Glast—Mr. J. M. Ricks for the defendant—was taken up. There had been a game of crap and some words passed, when Ridgely chased Jones to his home by stoning him, and Jones got a pistol and returning fired three shots, Ridgely jumping behind A. Gandy. Both of them dodged and bne ball went through Gandy's hat. The defendant admitted the shooting, but insisted that Ridgely and his crowd were pressing on him and he fired in self-defense. This case was briefly argued and given to the jury, and in the case of Dabney, Hunter and Hill a verdict of guilty was rendered and Justice Bradley proceeded to impose the sentences, which were such as to make an impression on the crowd present, being the maximum under the law—eight years in the penitentiary. Hunter was the only one who spoke and he protested his innocence.

PLAIN TALK FROM THE BENCH. PLAIN TALK FROM THE BENCH.

Justice Bradley said that he was not telling the truth, and he wished it understood that from this time forth in such cases, excepting where there were extenuating circumstances, the extreme penalty of the law would be imposed—such a sentence as would make it unpleasant for all who use the knife and pistol. Harry Jones was convicted of attempting to kill John Ridgely and he was called up. Mr. Ricks, his counsel, failing to secure a postponement of the sentence, urged that the boy was quite young.

The judge—"But old enough to serve a term in the penitentiary," and he proposed to make it a lesson for him.
